

Garry Barker Drawing Blog

Abstract in relation to a blog post introducing his role in the research team involved in 'Observation of Perception, considered through Drawing'

A drawing blog post reflecting on the various issues associated with developing drawing research in relation to perception, in particular in this case the perceptual awareness of one's own body and its agency and position as a location for 'feelings'.

This post also has a series of embedded hyperlinks that enable the reader to engage with a process of thinking and drawing that has been unfolding for some time, as well as linking into the work of a fellow researcher, who's investigations run parallel to my own.
